

Unit Overview Sheet: Northern Europe

Over the next three weeks, we'll be studying the culture, geography, and history of Northern Europe—a region that shares many similarities and differences with the United States. Use this unit overview sheet to track your progress toward mastering important outcomes. Shade the boxes Not Yet or You Bet to indicate whether you've mastered the learning targets.

Learning Targets
1. I can use tools like maps, charts, and graphs to compare the countries of Northern Europe to the United States. This means I can use a bar graph to draw conclusions about the countries that I am studying.
Not Yet	You Bet
2. I can explain how the resources that a country has can make it dependent on or independent from other countries. This means I can list the most important natural resources for three Northern European countries and detail how those resources help each country to survive and thrive.
Not Yet	You Bet
3. I can prove how the values of the people influence the decisions of governments. This means I can create a list of laws in Northern European countries that would probably be unpopular in the United States because we as people have different priorities.

4. I can compare the rights and responsibilities of citizens in different countries. This means I can create a Venn diagram detailing the similarities and differences between the rights and responsibilities of people living in Northern Europe and the United States.
