Same, Same, but Different (Front)

When you are walking to your class, an older student trips you, and his friends laugh.	An older student teases you and calls you names.
At recess, you want to join in the kickball game, but the other players refuse to let you play because they don't want to give anyone else a turn.	In art, a student tells you he doesn't like your painting.
You are playing volleyball at recess, and a student walking by kicks the ball away.	You save a seat next to you on the bus for your friend. Another student sits there even though there are plenty of other seats.
