

Student Announcement

Dear Students,

Over the next few days, you will see several guests here at our school and in your classrooms. They are here to help us see our strengths and to help determine where we can improve. You may remember that you filled out a survey, and your parents also received a survey asking for their thoughts about our school. The guests are the people who will be reading those surveys. They are educational researchers who have a lot of experience working with schools just like ours. If you see them in the hallway, the lunchroom, or your classroom, they may ask you some questions. What you think is important, so if they do ask you questions, please take time to answer.

The principal and teachers are looking forward to working with these researchers to make our school the best it can be. Please help us by welcoming these visitors to our school.
