

Personal Reflection

What types of behavior supports do you currently use?

What are the explicit, written rules for your learning space? Are they clear and concrete? Are they posted?

What do the children learn from simply watching you while you are working?

What is the connection between when it is easiest for you to be in control of your own behaviors and your ability to communicate? How do you see this connection played out in your classroom? Explain your response.