

Personal Reflection

Have you added to your definition of the term proactive strategies?

What are the proactive instructional strategies that you use?

What kinds of routines do you have in your life? What routines do you create for your children?

What types of visual supports do you use in your life, and what visuals do you provide for your children?

Explain the power of choice, and name some of the choices allowed in your learning space. Would other choices alleviate any behavioral issues?

How many ways and what do you use to prepare your children for transitions?
